

THE CAREY LIBRARY RESEARCH MINUTE

Official Newsletter of the James B. Carey Library

September 2023

Volume 3, Issue 3

Research Minute Contents:

Faculty Links

Good News Sources

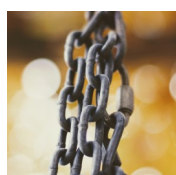

New Database

Request for Submissions

Most Used Faculty Links for Library Resources

Check out the following links for library resources! You might need them and not even know it!

- ⇒ Request a course reserve including streaming media content: <https://www.libraries.rutgers.edu/teaching-support/reading-lists-and-reserves>
- ⇒ Request that an item be purchased for the collection: <https://www.libraries.rutgers.edu/find-borrow/recommend-purchase>
- ⇒ View the list of databases: <https://www.libraries.rutgers.edu/databases>
- ⇒ Request an Interlibrary Loan: <https://www.libraries.rutgers.edu/find-borrow/interlibrary-loan-borrow-other-libraries>
- ⇒ Explore Research Data Services: <https://www.libraries.rutgers.edu/new-brunswick/teaching-research-help/research-data-services>
- ⇒ Learn more about your research impact: <https://www.libraries.rutgers.edu/research-support/research-impact>

Good Sources for Labor and HR News Articles—Check Them Out!

Finding it hard to keep up on the news? Want your students to keep up on the news? Check out these sources that specifically highlight labor and HR news and trends.

- ⇒ NPR's Business Topic Page: <https://www.npr.org/sections/business/>
- ⇒ New York Times— Labor: The New American Job Topic Page: <https://www.nytimes.com/topic/subject/labor-the-new-american-job>
- ⇒ Politico's Labor Page: <https://www.politico.com/tag/labor>
- ⇒ Pew Research Center's Economy & Work Topic Page: <https://www.pewresearch.org/topic/economy-work/>

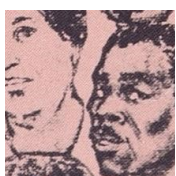

Want news articles delivered directly to you daily? Subscribe to the SMLR-Net Listserv. Four news articles are sent in one email at Noon (or as close to Noon as we can) every Monday—Friday.

Subscribe here:

https://lists.rutgers.edu/mm3/mailman3/lists/smlr\_net.email.rutgers.edu/

You can also check out the library homepage for spotlighted articles.

New Database: Behind the Scenes of the Civil Rights Movements

Announced by the Rutgers University Libraries this month, a new open access primary source database, Behind the Scenes of the Civil Rights Movements is now available. Rutgers University Libraries, through the Big Ten Academic Alliance (BTAA)'s Collective Investment Program, contributed to the development of this database.

Behind the Scenes of the Civil Rights Movements is a digitized primary source collection that focuses on the histories of civil rights activism. The collection launched in 2023 with its first batch of digitized content, which concentrates on African Americans' experiences in the Civil Rights Movement in the United States. When complete, the collection will contain materials documenting civil rights movements and the involvement of everyday people of Black, Latine, Indigenous, and Asian American/Pacific Islander communities.

Primary source materials in this collection are sourced from colleges and universities, historical societies, public libraries, community archives, and other institutions. A wide range of document types are included, such as correspondence, demonstration plan outlines, transportation logs and plans, meeting minutes, programs from worship services, and photographs.

A quick search on labor, using the JSTOR interface, yielded almost 70 primary source documents.

The database can be accessed from the main Rutgers Libraries website at:

<https://www.libraries.rutgers.edu/databases/behind-scenes-civil-rights-movements>

Two Requests for Submissions!

First Request: Over the summer, a working group was put together to collect and organize possible archival materials from the recent strike. Many have already shared photos, buttons, signs and stickers. Got anything else?? Please look around and consider donating so that these materials can be archived and preserved.

Second Request: The Carey Library Research Minute would love to share all the wonderful research projects you are working on. Please consider sharing a project you are currently working on to keep us all informed, engaged and connected!

Send all possible submissions to jpeters@smlr.rutgers.edu

CELEBRATION
OF SCHOLARSHIP

Spread the Word: November 8, 2023
RUL Celebration of Scholarship
<https://sites.rutgers.edu/nb-celebration-scholarship/>

James B. Carey Library
smlr.rutgers.edu/about-smlr/carey-library
848-932-9513