LABOR RELATIONS IN PROFESSIONAL SPORTS

37:575:310:01

PTL David P. Pepe, Esq.

Office hours before or after class by arrangement
O: (732) 855-6045

FALL 2014

Monday 7:15-10:05 pm
Cook Douglas
Lecture Hall – Room 109

COURSE DESCRIPTION: Reports of touchdowns, home runs, and overtime goals by professional sports heroes are often overshadowed by stories of strikes, lockouts, and mass resignations. Some of the highest paid employees in American society and their wealthy employers have created a system of labor relations that has failed, as often as it has worked, in serving as a mechanism to collectively establish wages and working conditions. This course will examine the history and evolution of labor-management relations in professional sports and assess the impact of professional sports on fans, the public interest, the economy and also how collegiate athletics is impacted by labor relations. Particular emphasis will be focused on the labor relations concerns of Athletic Representation and its impacts on sports.

COURSE REQUIREMENT: 1) mid-term exam, 2) final exam, 3) class project, 4) attendance and class participation. Each requirement will count for 25% of a student’s final grade.
COURSE SCHEDULE

Sept. 8  Introductions & Course Overview

Sept. 15 Labor Relations in the U.S.

Reading: Upton Sinclair. The Jungle (Excerpts)

Reading: Mark Conrad. Blue Collar Law and Basketball

Sept. 22 Continued discussion of Labor Relations in the U.S. and the advent of collective bargaining. History of Unionization in Professional Sports

Reading: Eliot Asinof. Eight Men Out (Excerpts)

Sept. 29 Collective Bargaining in Pro Sports

Reading: Marvin Miller. A Whole Different Ballgame (Excerpts)

Oct. 6 Labor Relations in Baseball – Phil Pepe. "Talking Baseball"; (Excerpts)

In class project: Salary Arbitration hearing.

Oct. 13 The curious case of Curt Flood (DVD) In Class

Reading: Jeffrey S. Moorad. Major League Baseball’s Labor Turmoil: The Failure of the Counter Revolution

Oct. 20 MID TERM EXAMINATION

Oct. 27 The Reserve Clause and The Curt Flood decision.
(Guest Lecturer)
Current Topics in Labor Relations and Sports

Reading: Jonathan M. Conti. The Effect of Salary Arbitration on Major League Baseball

Reading: Curt Flood decision.

Nov. 3 Reading: Athlete Compensation, Quick and Fort, Pay Dirt:
The Business of Professional Team Sports

Reading: Lawrence M. Kahn. The Sports Business as a Labor Market Laboratory

Nov. 10
Role of Player Agents

Reading: Kenneth Stropshire and Timothy Davis. The Business of Sports Agents.

Nov. 17
The NCAA and The Call For Organization of Collegiate Athletes

(No Class)
Assigned Readings

Nov. 24
Current Issues in labor relations in sports.

Assigned Readings.

Dec. 1
Final Exam Review

Dec. 8
FINAL EXAM