Objectives: Analysis of major issues in public sector collective bargaining, including: its history, the legal, economic, and social underpinnings, appropriate bargaining units; the duty to bargain, the scope of bargaining, administration of the collective negotiations agreement, impasse mechanisms, and the relationship(s) between the public employer, the union, the individual employee and the public.

This course will address federal, state and local bargaining. Although a multi-jurisdictional format will be used, emphasis will be placed upon statutes, institutions and practices in New Jersey.

Throughout this course, you will be practicing skills in identifying critical assumptions, methods, and types of evidence in relationship to theoretical and practical arguments made by employers, unions, employees and the public regarding public sector collective bargaining. This course will identify and discuss the economic and political and legal theories and systems relevant to the public sector collective bargaining relationship. You will demonstrate this understanding through your written work and through a mock collective bargaining exercise.

Readings: Readings are available on Sakai

Attendance and Grading Policies: Students are expected to attend all classes and to actively participate in all exercises and discussions.

Each student will participate in a mock collective bargaining exercise. Although bargaining sessions will take place during class, students will be required to prepare for bargaining outside of class. Students shall keep a journal of their collective bargaining experiences to be turned in at the close of the bargaining exercises. Journal entries should be 1-2 pages double-spaced for each bargaining session. The journal should address both the substance and process of the bargaining with a focus on how the public nature of the employer has influenced the bargaining positions and strategies. The mock bargaining exercise, together with the completed journals will account for 20% of the final grade. Journals are due on or before April 17, 2014.

Undergraduate students will complete midterm examination on March 6, 2014 which will account for 30% of the final grade.

Graduate students will prepare a 10-15 page research paper on an approved topic in public sector collective bargaining and will lead a class discussion regarding the topic. The paper and class discussion, shall account for 30% of the final grade. Sample topics include but are not limited to:

- Civil Service Reform Proposals
- The scope of bargaining in the Federal sector
- Freedom of speech in the public sector workplace
- Union Security in the Public Sector
- The limits of grievance arbitration in the public sector workplace
- Scope of bargaining over specific issues—i.e. police weapons, teacher class size, etc.
- Subcontracting in the public sector.
- Effect of social media on public sector collective bargaining
- Dynamics of collective bargaining in a recessionary environment
- Tenure system reforms and their impact on public sector employees
- Shared services proposals, impact on public sector collective bargaining

All students will complete a comprehensive final exam. The final exam will account for 30% of the final grade. Undergraduate students will complete a final examination which will emphasize materials covered after the mid-term examination, but which will also require knowledge of materials covered in the first portion of the class. Graduate students will complete a comprehensive take-home final examination, which will be distributed on May 1, 2014 and will be due on May 8, 2014.

The remaining 20% of the final grade will be based upon attendance and participation. Participation includes contribution to class discussions, participation in other group activities in class.
