

Black Workers in American Society
575:303 Spring 2011

Professor Dickerson vonLockette
(ntdv@rci.rutgers.edu)
Office: Room 151 Labor Education Center
office hours by appointment

Course Description

This course will examine the evolving position of black workers in the U.S. economy: how it has changed at key points throughout U.S. history to the present day, and how access to opportunities in the labor market is informed by racial stratification in the larger society. We will discuss various dimensions of racial labor market stratification (wages, mobility, benefits, poverty, unemployment, underemployment) as a way to assess blacks' economic position in the labor market. The goal of the course is to challenge common notions of how people succeed in the labor market and to explore how systemic patterns of exclusion limit opportunities for blacks. The course will focus on structural explanations for racial inequality in the labor market rather than purely individualistic ones. We will examine the social constructs of race and class to understand how blacks at all levels in the labor market face common challenges in navigating the labor market.

Professor Dickerson vonLockette's Biography

Dr. Dickerson vonLockette (Ph.D., University of Michigan, Sociology) studies the structural features of the U.S. labor market that enable or hinder access to employment opportunities for black and Latino workers. Her current work investigates the role of residential segregation in the job allocation process and patterns of race/gender occupational segregation in the U.S. labor market. The National Academy of Science rewarded her a HUD post-doctoral fellowship to study the impact of residential segregation on the race gap in unemployment and wages for blacks and Latinos in marginalized communities in U.S. metropolitan areas. She has served as a consultant to the U.S. Departments of Labor and Commerce and the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

Readings

Readings are in the class coursepack, unless otherwise noted. The coursepack is available online on Sakai (<https://sakai.rutgers.edu/portal>).

- 1) Go to <https://sakai.rutgers.edu/portal>
- 2) Log in using your RU ID
- 3) Click the tab for this class (575:303)
- 4) Course materials (readings, etc) are located under Resources (on the left hand column)

You must come to class having read the assigned reading for that class meeting and be prepared to discuss it. Expect pop quizzes on the reading at the beginning of class from time to time.

Assignments:

Occupation Research Report

You will research the occupation group and industry of your interest using the institutional racism inventory as a guideline and write a report. In the written report focus on explaining how race may play a role in what workers have access to your occupation/industry and then end the report with a policy recommendation section on how to ensure equal access to your occupation/industry.

4-5 pp., double-spaced, 1” margins, 12 pt. Font (Times)

Discussion Participation:

Most class meetings we will break into small groups to discuss the readings and concepts introduced in lecture. Each student is expected to participate in these small-group and larger class discussions. This class will stress active learning where you are actively involved in learning and accountable for what you learn. Your participation grade is largely determined by how much you participate in these discussions, professional conduct and your attendance. Texting, use of phones, and computers during class for non-related activities distracts us from our mission and will not be tolerated.

Other notes:

The attendance policy is as follows: Each student is allowed one ‘excused’ absence. For every absence after that, points will be deducted from your final grade accordingly: 1 point for the 2nd absence, 2pts for the 3rd absence, 3 points for the 4th and so on. Coming to class late is highly disruptive; two late attendances (more than five minutes late) will count as an absence. If an assignment is turned in after the due date five points per day will be deducted from the grade for that assignment. The assignments are due in class in person on the day designated in the syllabus. I am not able to accept papers via email.

At all times and in all cases, you are responsible for missed information, announcements, notes, handouts, etc. Bring your syllabus, readings, and class notes to each class meeting.

Get the contact number of at least two other students in class, so that in the event that you can not be in class, you can get missed information and class notes from them. Whether you are in class or not, you are responsible for the information presented.

If you choose the convenience of contacting me via email, please be advised that the typical response time is 3-5 business days.

Final Grades will be determined by the following distribution:

25% Mid-term Exam

30% Occupation Research Report

30% Final Exam

15% Participation: discussion during class, timely attendance to each class, quizzes, citizenship, collegial interaction with other students and professor

Class Schedule

Note: The readings listed under each week must be read in advance and you must be prepared to discuss the reading for the class meeting under which it is listed.

Week 1: January 18

Introduction to Course

- Introductions
- Course info and description
- Discussion of key themes and concepts used throughout the course
- Rules of engagement
- Go over assignments

Week 2: January 25

Understanding Racial Economic Stratification in the U.S.

Amer. Sociol. Assoc., "Race, Ethnicity, and the American Labor Market: What's at Work?"

Week 3: February 1

The Historical Formation of Race and Work in U.S. Economy: Post-Emancipation

Steinberg, "The Reconstruction of Black Servitude After the Civil War"

Week 4: February 8

The Historical Formation of Race and Work in U.S. Economy: The Industrial Era

1. Nelson, "Divided We Stand: American Workers and the Struggle for Black Equality", Introduction
2. Katznelson, When Affirmative Action Was White, Chapter 5

Week 5: February 15

Understanding Racial Economic Stratification in the U.S.

Schulman, "The Political Economics of Labor Market Discrimination"

Week 6: February 22

Blacks and the Post-Industrial Economy

Massey and Denton, American Apartheid, Chapter 2

Review for Mid-term

Week 7: March 1

Mid-term exam

Week 8: March 8

Middle Class and Professional Blacks

1. Cose, Rage of A Privileged Class, Ch. 4
2. Collins, "Black Mobility in White Corporations"

Week 9: March 22

Working Class and Poor Blacks

Kozol, Shame of a Nation

Week 10: March 29

Access to Work

Green, Tigges, and Diaz, "Racial and Ethnic Differences in Job-Search Strategies"

Week 11: April 5

Access to Work

Pager, "The Mark of a Criminal Record"

Occupation Research Reports due Today

Week 12: April 12

Institutionalized and Structural Exclusion

Shapiro and Kenty-Drane "The racial wealth gap"

Royster, "White Privilege and Black Accommodation: Where Past and Contemporary Discrimination Converge"

Week 13: April 19

Institutionalized and Structural Exclusion

Kasinitz and Rosenberg, "Missing the Connection: Social Isolation and Employment on the Brooklyn Waterfront"

Week 14: April 26

Affirmative Action in the Labor Market

Reskin, The Realities of Affirmative Action in Employment, Ch. 1