Learning Objectives:

This class relates to the overall objectives of a liberal arts education in the social science area. "A Rutgers University SAS graduate will be able to:

- "Understand the bases and development of human and societal endeavors across time and place." Throughout this course you will explore the issues, challenges, and opportunities related to a diverse workforce. The importance of leveraging diversity in the workplace will be examined as well as examining individual cultural values, biases, and behaviors.
- "Apply concepts about human and social behavior to particular questions, issues, or situations." This course focuses on giving students opportunities to get familiar with real-world diversity issues and problems in the workplace. As the workforce becomes increasingly diverse, it is imperative that we learn how to listen and understand people from different group identities who may bring different, but equally valuable, points of view to the workplace. In an attempt to help us understand the origins and perpetuations of our biases, prejudices, and perceptions, informed opinions, observations, and curiosity will not only be solicited but welcomed

It is important that students keep in mind that all cultures have their own in-group and out-group prejudices and stereotypes. By raising the level of awareness of certain issues we hope to develop an attitude of tolerance and inclusion.

Grading Policy

Grades will be based on two exams, a team project (group case analysis), and class participation.

•	Exam 1 (midterm)	30%
•	Exam 2 (final)	30%
•	Group Case Analysis	30%
	o Paper
	 Presentation/Individual Case
•	Participation	10%

Exams

Both midterm and final exam will be a combination of multiple choice questions, short answer questions and essay questions. The final is not cumulative.

Group Case Analysis

Students will be divided into groups. Each group must submit one group case analysis in writing on a diversity topic. Groups are to make and announce selection by the end of the fourth class. Each group is to write a 10- page paper analyzing their case.

You can use and cite materials in related readings assigned during the semester. You are also expected to find additional information from other sources, e.g. academic journals, industry periodicals, and/or books.

All papers are due Monday, April 11. All presentations are to be given on Monday, April 18, April 25, and May 2. Presentations should be approximately 30 minutes each.

Class Participation

The participation portion of your grade will be based on your contribution to class discussions using the required readings. Participation is also determined by your involvement in all of your group's activities, in class, and homework assignments.

Missed Exams, Papers, and Presentations

No make-up exams will be permitted unless the instructor is advised of a valid excuse prior to the exam or due date. Make up exams will only be granted with a legitimate excuse. Failure to take the exam at the appointed time will result in an "0" for that exam. Failure to submit case analyses at the appointed time will result in an "0" for the case analysis portion of the grade.

Attendance

Attendance is critical in this class because much of the learning comes from interaction of the students through class discussion. Therefore, class attendance is expected each day of class. If for some reason a student is not able to attend a class, it is expected that the student discuss the absence with the instructor, ahead of time, if possible.

Changes

This course is expected to follow the syllabus as written, however situations may arise where it is reasonable to make changes. Those changes will be discussed and made during class.
