What to expect – a note to students

The fall 2020 semester at Rutgers will be different from others because of the coronavirus pandemic. My goal is that this course will not add to the burden of uncertainly that you may already be experiencing. As you will be studying in Occupational Safety and Health, accommodating changing conditions is key to successfully weathering a crisis, therefore, clear expectations along with flexibility are built into this course. I am looking forward a productive and interesting semester with no surprises and a minimum of stress. – Prof. Conway

Course Description

Work has an impact on physical and psychological health. In this course, we will explore the health and safety issues of various types of work. You will gain an understanding of the current state of occupational safety and health in the United States and globally including the enforcement of laws regulating occupational safety and health and the roles of workers, unions, and employers. The historical, economic, and cultural forces contributing to and inhibiting solutions to occupational safety and health problems will be analyzed.

This is a fully online course; synchronous sessions are not required.

Learning Objectives

The student is able to:

Labor Studies and Employment Relations Department

- Apply employment relations concepts, and substantive institutional knowledge, to understanding contemporary developments related to work. (Goal II) Assessment: quizzes

School of Management and Labor Relations

- Analyze the degree to which forms of human difference shape a person’s experience of work. (Goal V) Assessment: discussions
- Demonstrate an understanding of how to apply knowledge necessary for effective work performance. (Goal VI) Assessment: discussions

Points have no absolute meaning, and in the end, I will use my judgment in translating points into grades for the course. Implicitly, that means that grades are “curved” in the sense that they are comparative. The comparison is both to other students taking the class this semester and with those who took the class in the past. In addition, I may increase or decrease a grade for exceptional (positive or negative) class participation and performance – ordinarily by one level (e.g. between B and B+). Grading rubrics for each assignment are available on Canvas. Extra credit is not offered in this course.

Online discussions – 5 @150 points each

In the first week of each online discussion students will prepare and submit an initial post. In the second week of the discussion, students will read group members’ posts and communicate their questions, insights, analysis, and conclusions in a threaded discussion. Each discussion will require preparing a brief topic or issue presentation; writing an essay or brief critique; or other task to share with group members. The Online Group Discussion Guidelines and Grading Rubric document provides an in-depth explanation of how to successfully participate in the online discussions and how the discussions are evaluated. Late submissions without an approved excuse will be assessed a 25% penalty.

Quizzes – 2 @ 100 points

Timed quizzes include true/false, matching, multiple choice, fill-in-the-blank, and short answer questions. Quizzes are noncumulative. Quizzes must be taken online on the Canvas course site during the open period. Collaboration on the quizzes is not allowed, but they are open book. Make-up quizzes without an approved excuse and taken within one week of the due date will be assessed a 25% penalty.

Class participation

This is an interactive class; students need to stay on track to effectively interact with others in the class. I should be informed of personal situations or emergencies that interfere with class participation. As soon as a problem arises, email me. An online class provides welcome schedule flexibility, but students are responsible for managing their time and participating in class every week.
Contributing to the learning environment

Students are expected to contribute to creating an environment that fosters mutual respect, courtesy, and civility by adherence to class norms for discussion, debate, and all interpersonal interaction. Expressions of hatred or contempt based on race, color, national or ethnic origin, age, gender, religion, sexual orientation, marital status, or physical or psychological disability will not be overlooked nor will they be tolerated.

Course communications

Students are responsible for accessing course materials on Canvas and participating as instructed. Rutgers email and Canvas email should be checked frequently throughout the study week for class announcements or updates. Automatic email and announcement notifications are available on Canvas.

Students are responsible for promptly replying to emails that request a response. Inform me of emergencies or problems that are likely to affect participation or performance in the course. The sooner I am informed, the easier it will be to develop a plan to keep up with the course work.

Class cancellations

Because this is a fully online course, most Rutgers class cancellations will not affect virtual class attendance and participation.

Academic Integrity

Academic Integrity is vital to the mission of Rutgers, to education at Rutgers and membership in the Rutgers community. It is a core value that supports trust among students, and between students and teachers. Academic integrity is also a shared value; administration, faculty, and students each play a vital part in promoting, securing, and nurturing it.

Academic dishonesty is not an individual act that affects only the students involved. It violates communal trust, impacts other members of the community, and is an offense against scholarship. For this reason, any instance of cheating or plagiarism will be dealt with harshly.

Honesty matters. As a shared value, administration, faculty and students each play a vital part in promoting, securing and nurturing it. See the Rutgers Academic Code and Academic Oath at:

From the Office of Disability Services

Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where you are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation: https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodations, your campus's disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodations. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodations with them as early in your courses as possible. To begin this process, please complete the Registration form on the ODS web site at: https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/registration-form.
