Course Description

Welcome!

Human Resources Management in Healthcare will introduce you to the management of staff in the nation's largest and fastest growing industry. We will begin with a primer on healthcare. We will then move to topics in the text. Lectures will both explicate and critique the text.

Human resource management in the healthcare setting shares common features with HRM in any organization. However, healthcare organizations have a unique history of approaches to HRM. Healthcare organizations are closely regulated entities. Many healthcare professions are also closely regulated. They are often subject to licensure and/or certification as a basis of entry. Healthcare provider organizations include for-profit and non-profit companies that often compete against each other. Healthcare provider organizations are often composed of organized staffs that include independent healthcare practitioners. Also, healthcare is one of the few industries that makes a significant use of volunteers.

With the advent of the Affordable Care Act the healthcare industry has seen significant consolidation as well as the growth of providers as insurance risk takers. Healthcare providers have taken on new initiatives to improve quality and reduce costs. Despite the law, American healthcare costs are the highest in the world. At the same time, American clinical outcomes place us 37th in the world (just below Costa Rica and just above Slovenia) according to the World Health Organization. An efficient and effective use of human resources is critical improving the American healthcare system's outcomes for clinical quality, patient satisfaction and cost.

The course relies on a base of psychology, management, and economics.

If you are a student in SMLR, the course will introduce you to a field where opportunities continue to grow. If you are a Bloustein student, the course will offer you a set of competencies necessary to operate in the labor-intensive world of healthcare.

Grading Structure

Grading Components	% of Final Course Grade
Discussion Forum Participation	24%
Examination 1	25%
Examination 2	25%
Term Paper	26%
Total	100%

Examinations

---

There will be two examinations: a Mid-Term Examination and a Final Examination. Each will be composed of 50 multiple choice questions. Each exam is worth 25 points. So, each question is worth .5 point toward the course. The exam questions are derived from the text. My best advice to score well on the exams: study the text closely.

The exams are proctored by Lockdown Browser and Respondus. Prior to the Mid-Term, you will be offered a 10 question practice exam to take under proctoring. You will be able to understand the difficulty of the questions as well as the exam proctoring conditions. Please take the practice exam.

LockDown Browser and Respondus Monitor

Your exam will be proctored through the proctoring tool LockDown Browser and Respondus Monitor. LockDown Browser locks your browser so you can only open the Exam browser and nothing else. The Respondus Monitor is the Webcam proctoring that accompanies LockDown Browser. In Week 6, prior to the midterm exam, you will take a practice test (non-graded) to acclimate yourself to LockDown Browser and identify/fix any technical issues. This way you will be all set to go for the midterm.

In order to complete the exam, you will need to download the tool. Follow instructions below:

- Student Guide LockDown BrowserLinks to an external site.Open this document with ReadSpeaker docReader

The course requires a term paper. The paper will be on a topic that covers both human resources and healthcare. An acceptable topic is typically derived from a slice of one of the chapters in the text. Each student will have a unique topic. The topic must be approved. Topics must be approved by February 25. The sooner you offer a topic, the more likely you will have the topic of your choice. If you do not have an approved topic by the due date, a topic will be assigned. Please do not let this happen. Students perform better when exploring an area of personal interest rather than an assigned area.

The term paper should have a thesis that is supported by information adduced from your sources. For example, the thesis might show better ways of achieving a given end in healthcare human resources. It might show common threads in a review of different outcomes of healthcare human resources activities. Or, it might critique prevailing thought in healthcare human resources.

The term paper is expected to be roughly ten pages, double spaced in length. You should, however, use as much space as you need to develop your thesis. You may use any format you wish, but use that format consistently. Term papers will be reviewed by Turnitin for plagiarism.

Term papers are due by April 10. There will be a deduction for any lateness. The deduction will be proportional to the amount of lateness.
