Professor: Peter Rokkos

Email: peter.rokkos@rutgers.edu

Cell Phone: 732 216 4209

Office: Janice H. Levin Building 94 Rockefeller Road, Suite 215

Office Hours: Office hours for Professor Rokkos are prior to and immediately following class lectures; typically, between 4-6pm Monday and 3-5pm Tuesday (although please email to confirm as this time changes) and otherwise by appointment.

Time: Wednesday 7:20 – 10:00pm

Class lectures and interactions will be initially online through Spring Break; class sessions will be recorded and accessible after recording.

Location: Initially, all course meetings will be virtual online via WebEx. Details on live in person session meeting will be provided as circumstances permit.

Course Description: Corporate governance issues; financial statement analysis; and cost accounting for collective bargaining and workplace management. Students will become conversant with the major issues of the modern corporation and the major social science questions raised about the corporation in terms of governance and its role in society and the important research questions and sources of evidence on corporate behavior. This course then pivots over to apply these concepts towards corporate financial decision making. We will examine the relationships between corporate finance and labor relations. In addition, you will learn how to use financial decision-making techniques for assessing and developing practices and programs in labor relations.

Course Structure Overview: This course will be presented over 14 weeks with a focus on providing weekly ongoing interaction and material development and requiring live student participation in each particular segment. My goal is to present the materials in a manner that maximizes interactions weekly with students, the topics covered and current events; while providing contingencies if live participation at a given point in time becomes impossible. This balance will require your help so your weekly live participation in lectures, discussion forums and other forms in real time is greatly appreciated. To the extent students cannot plug into our weekly lectures in real time, active participation in discussion forums, watching video recordings of our WebEx sessions and other methods will be required. However, my strong desire is for nearly all of you to be active and contributing live and in person during our normal class scheduled WebEx meetings.

Course Delivery Format: The course delivery mode is initially remote synchronous; meaning that the learning activities take place online (virtually) and there will be live/synchronous sessions each class. Hopefully, we will be able to incorporate one or more class sessions live into the format during normal class times circumstances permitting.

We will be utilizing the Canvas learning management system to access learning materials, post announcements, submit Assignments, post to Discussion forums, communicate via the Inbox feature, attend live sessions through WebEx, and take exams. Be sure to check this site frequently as there will be announcements and instructions.

Canvas: The course will be using Canvas extensively; the course site for Canvas may be accessed through the following link:

<https://rutgers.instructure.com/courses/118346>

If you are new to Canvas, be sure to complete the Canvas Tutorials under Course Tools Tutorials section of the Modules.

Required Software: Adobe Acrobat Reader and Microsoft Word, Excel, and PowerPoint or other software with similar functionality by Google, Apple and others

Prerequisites: An active e-mail account, netid, access to Canvas and basic knowledge of Microsoft Word Excel, Arithmetic, and Algebra (ratios, percentages, and word problems) are required.

Recommended: The reading of business publications such as the Wall Street Journal, New York Times, Fortune, or the Harvard Business Review is highly encouraged. Many business publications are available through the University Library– a service for which you have already paid. Additional web sites offering business insights in general and specific articles on CG&FA will be discussed in class and linked through Canvas. These sources can provide you with details for the Participation component of your grade discussed below.

Corporate Governance and Financial Analysis

Class Approach: There will be a lecture at each class and then a discussion of a series of cases. Power Point presentations used during the lecture will be posted shortly prior to class on Canvas so that you can use them as a basis for taking notes or to follow along.

Required Work

Participation. Each student will be required to submit a comment on Canvas during most weeks prior to each class using the Assignments folder on Canvas. This is part of your Participation grade which accounts for 20% of your overall grade. These comments should address issues discussed in the current week's readings, or topics in the news relating to these materials. See Canvas each week for details on a particular week's submission. Students will be called upon in class to discuss their Participation comment so please come to class prepared to engage on the comment you provided. Failure to be available in class to discuss your Participation comment if selected will materially impact your grade for your Participation submission during that class.

In addition to the weekly Participation Assignments, students will take one online timed midterm exam and one take home final exam during exam week.

Students will also participate in a group class exercise during the last two weeks of the semester.

Assessment Policy

Grading: Grades will consist of the following components of 100% of the grade:

Midterm Exam (Financial Analysis)	20%
Final Exam (Corporate Governance)	20%
Participation	20%
Class Exercise	4%
Homework Assignments (~6 bi-weekly)	36%

Letter Grade	Scores Based on Course Components
A	90-100
B+	85-89
B	80-84
C+	75-79
C	70-74
D	60-69
F	< 60

Note: Rounding up or down for 'in between grades' will be based on multiple factors including participation and attendance; but will only be considered for 1% point. For example, an 84.6% may round up to an 85% for a B+ if attendance and participation are exceptional; an 84.4% will in all but exceptional instances not round up; and a 83.9% will not be considered for rounding up to a B+. The thresholds for final letter grades will be re-scaled if a conventional standard seems unreasonable.

Requests for recommendations must be made in writing after completion of the course.

Attendance and Participation: Participation in the lectures is critical to the class both in terms of being present in class and fully participating. Attendance will be taken during each class, and those not participating will lose points on the Attendance and Participation scores. Materials will be presented in class that are not covered in the readings and they will make up a significant part of the examinations. All additional materials will be available on Canvas.

A student missing more than 50% of the classes will not receive credit for this course. Each student will have one excused absence that will not count towards these missed classes or receive any penalty to their attendance grade. This excused absence can be used for any reason and does not require a note, so it can be used for an absence related to an illness, for example.

At the instructor's discretion, perfect attendance (attending all classes in full) and consistent contributions to class discussions and homework review may improve your final grade. Conversely, attendance below ~80% will reduce your final grade on a sliding scale. You should track your attendance on Canvas, and your overall attendance percentage (present in class out of total classes where attendance was taken) can be seen on Canvas in the Gradebook.

Readings and Deadlines: All readings should be completed prior to the date noted on the syllabus. Due dates and deadlines are firm. Unless you can get prior approval, each day late will result in increasing penalties. You must download your assignments and upload your completed written assignments in the Assignments folder on Canvas.
