Requirements

This course will have a seminar format, including a combination of lectures, case studies, and discussion. All students are expected to attend each class prepared to discuss the readings. Final grades will be based 1/3 on class participation and writing assignments, 1/3 on a mid-term exam, and 1/3 on a final exam.

Class Participation

This class will be conducted seminar style and class participation is essential. You must read and think about the material before the seminar and be prepared to participate actively in small group and entire class discussions.

Writing Assignments

To assist in class participation, and help review for exams, students are required to write short (1-2 page) papers answering questions about each week's reading and relating it to our ongoing conversation about globalization, corporate restructuring and the changing nature of employment. These papers summarize the main ideas and arguments from the readings each week and how they relate to previous readings/arguments and the course theme. You may include multiple readings in your summaries (you don't need 1 page for each reading) but be clear and reference the reading and author you are discussing in each section of your paper. The questions can be found each week under the Assignments Tab on Sakai. Papers are due by the beginning of class. If a student is unable to attend class the paper must still be submitted.

Norms

- Read and think about all of the assigned readings before each class.
- Please participate actively, thoughtfully, and respectfully – listen and engage appropriately.
- Please be ready to begin class on time. Some lateness is inevitable but it is disruptive so please keep it to a minimum.
- Please minimize absences – this is a seminar that depends on participation. If you must miss class please call or email me in advance.
- Please turn all cell phones off prior to the start of class.
- You may use personal computers, but only for class work – not for checking email or social media.
- Please turn in the exams when they are due.

Please Review the University's Policy on Academic Integrity:
