Course Overview

Organizing is how people come together to pursue their collective interests. Organizing is moving people into Relationship, Reflection, Story-telling, Leadership and Action in order to:

- Build their collective power
- Take greater control over their own lives
- Achieve shared goals

It is a life skill that students will need no matter the field they end up pursuing or the community in which they end up settling.

How do people come together and take action to win on the issues they care about? How do organizations build power and develop winning strategies?

The curriculum and examples are drawn from my twenty-plus years working as an organizer and trainer before entering academia and from classics of organizing, political science, sociology, urban studies, economics, public policy and anthropology that shed light on key ideas.

The course will cover the building blocks of organizing including:

- Recruitment and Building the Organization
- Forms of Power
- Strategic Research and Power Analysis
- Strategy
- Effective Actions and Turnout

We will read both practical and scholarly work on these topics and explore them through class discussions, exercises and role plays.

The Learning Objectives of this course are to:

1) Examine critically the theory and practice of organizing
2) Learn a set of concrete organizing skills
3) Analyze the role of direct action organizing as an empowerment strategy in disadvantaged and marginalized communities and think about its relationship to broader movements for social change.
4) Engage in dialogue and debate around issues of power, inequality, organizing and politics
5) Understand theoretical perspectives on concepts related to organizing drawn from political science, sociology, history, anthropology, urban planning and political theory
6) Write an essay that puts forward an argument

Course Requirements:

Weekly Reaction Papers:

In order to help prepare for discussions during class, students must submit one page written reactions to the readings and class discussions each week through the sakai drop-box.

- Homework cannot be handwritten.
- You have the option to skip TWO weeks of your choice.
- These papers must be handed in on the day they are due.
- More than a day late, ten points off
- More than two weeks late will not be accepted
- Please direct any questions about HW assignments to TA’s

Organizing Practicum:

Students are strongly encouraged to sign up for an additional credit for the organizing practicum. Each student must choose a campus organizing organization or off-campus organizing organization and actively participate in it over the course of the semester including planning, organizing and participating in at least one direct action or conducting ten one-on-one meetings for the purposes of recruitment. Teaching Assistants are available to help with matching students to organizations. Students must choose an organization and notify me of their choice by February 4th and begin working with the group from that week on. You will submit one paragraph per week along with your homework, beginning February 11th, about your organizational experiences.

Please note: I strongly support doing community service but for the purposes of the class, the practicum must be with an organization engaged in organizing. Examples include: AFT/AAUP, URA, USAS, Rutgers One Coalition, Fossil Fuel Divestment, Food and Water Watch, New Labor, Unity Square, Black Lives Matter, New Jersey Communities United, New Jersey Organizing Project, Wind of the Spirit, Make the Road, New Jersey Working Families, New Jersey Citizen Action, CWA, NJ AFL-CIO other gender, racial, environmental and social justice organizations
Essays: Students will write two 6-8 page essays based upon their reflections on the main issues and themes that emerged in the readings, lectures, role plays and class discussions. Please remember that you MUST substantively refer to several different class readings pertaining to the question (this means you cannot just mention the article, you must engage with it).

Essay #1: What is power? Where does it come from? What is the relationship between power and social change?
DUE: March 1, 2017

Essay #2: What is organizing? What are the most essential elements of building an organization? What is the difference between organizing and mobilizing? What is the relationship between organizing and social change?
DUE: April 12, 2017

Group Assignment

Strategy Chart: Over the course of the second half of the semester, student groups of 5 students per group will collectively choose an issue and then meet weekly to work on each column of the strategy chart. Students will need to work on the chart and conduct research on the issue and the components of the chart outside of class and during finals week must present a power point of a full strategy chart, along with a timeline and written 6-12 page campaign plan in lieu of a final exam. To ensure that all group participants are contributing, students will be asked to grade their peers.

DUE: Draft: Goals, Organizational Considerations, Preliminary Research List: March 8th

DUE: Draft: Allies, Constituents and Opponents and Actual Research: March 29th, 2017

DUE: Draft: Targets, Tactics and Message: April 19th, 2017

FINAL FULL ASSIGNMENT DUE: May 3, 2017

Attendance: Class meets only once a week and attendance is mandatory. You should have no unexcused absences. After the second unexcused absence, you will be marked down one letter grade per unexcused absence. This means that if you are at a B+ you would receive a B. You must also arrive at class on time. Students arriving more than ten minutes late will be penalized.

One-on-Ones and Class Discussions:
• The richness of our larger conversations about the reading will be totally dependent upon having done the reading ahead of time and bringing thoughts and ideas to the larger discussion. I will be keeping track of who is participating.
• Each week at the start of class, students will engage in a one-on-one conversation with each other.
• Most weeks students will also meet in small groups to plan role plays and exercises, discuss the reading assignments or work on strategy development. You must pull your weight in the group.
